

For more than a century, the City of Meridian has been a cultural center for East Mississippi. From the newly restored 1890's Grand Opera House to the Meridian Little Theater, at 75 years, the oldest subscription community theater in the South, Meridianites are involved in local arts and music venues at every level.

Meridian can boast of its art galleries, private fine art and musical instruction, classes in arts and crafts at the Meridian Activity Center, and city-sponsored art festivals such as the Threefoot Arts Festival. Local groups also include the Meridian Artists Co-Op, where a variety of pieces may be viewed or purchased, The Wesley Belles, Barber Shop Chorus, and too many churches' choirs to ever list!
